A Celebration of Life

A Resolution in Loving Memory of

Jerry Stephen Mattox

Mr. Jerry Stephen Mattox was born on December 7, 1952 to loving parents, Norman S. Mattox and Mary Kathryn Harrison Mattox. Jerry lived his entire life in Old East Dallas and attended Woodrow Wilson High School. After graduating from Woodrow Wilson High School in 1971, Jerry went on to attend The University of Texas at Austin and proudly graduated in the Class of 1975.

Jerry knew no strangers – he was a friend to all and he greeted everyone with a smile! His genuine and caring nature shined through. He cared deeply about his community and loved his family and friends. Jerry was known for his generous nature and for lending a helping hand when family and friends called.

Jerry enjoyed life with unparalleled gusto. Whether it was a UT watching party, enjoying the local music scene or a social gathering with The Margarita Society, Jerry was there.

Jerry dedicated his life to making Dallas a better place. He was part of the family tradition of being a lifelong, yellow dog Democrat. He was close to his siblings and was preceded in death by his brother James “Jim” Mattox, the former Texas Attorney General.

Jerry Stephen Mattox is gone too soon; he will be greatly missed. To his family – he openly loved and cherished each one of you dearly. Jerry will live on in your hearts through the joyful memories of a life well lived and will not be forgotten by his neighbors.
